DIAZ MEN PLOT TO RISE AGAINST HUERTA

Ready to Attempt Seizure of Government When Dictator's Downfall Is Assured.

Blow to Be Struck When Carranza and Villa Openly Defy U. S.

El Paso, Tex., April 23 .- Advices from Mexico city state that the followers of ex-President Porfirio Dias and the friends of his nephew, Gen. Felix Diaz, have perfeeted arrangements for an uprising against Huerts as soon as the fall of the present dictator is assured.

Porfirio Diaz, now in Europe, has no Bart in the plans and is only partly cognizant of them. Felix Diaz is living in New York and will not leave there unless the coup is a success

It is not known just what men in Mexico city are in the Diaz plot against Huerta. Almost all of the Cientificos, the men of the old Diaz regime, have been banished by the dictator, imprisoned or forced to flee the country. The present Porfirista leaders are known only to Gen. Diaz and a few of his circle.

This latest plot was formed after the United States Government, through Secretary Bryan, had declined to support Gen. Diaz in his claims to the Mexican Felix Diaz wished guar antees from the American Governmen and declared that with these he would be able to go into Mexico, establish peace ad set up a stable government until Pailed to Get U. S. Backing.

He went personally to Washington to see if he could not induce the United States to back him, but failed. It was his hope then that this Government's ac-tion against Huerta would be limited to blockade of Vera Cruz and Tampico. This, his friends told him, would mean the swift downfall of Huerta and would e a chance for a coup in Mexico before Carranza or Villa could de-nd on the capital from the north.

"Gen. Diaz felt sure that the landing f marines by the United States would can war," a man close to him said today. "It would mean that the United States would have to fight all Mexico. "There is no foundation for the belief that Carranza, Villa and Huerta or their followers will ever unite against the United States. They do not need to. They can simply cease fighting each other and Il let drive at the Americans separately ; message demanding that Americans evacuate Vera Cruz is the proof.

"But the supporters of Gen. Diaz now in Mexico city—Porfiristas, as we call them though men hitherto little known, are thoroughly capable and will know how to seize the moment when Huerta begins to totter to a fall. They expect then to start a popular uprising, make themselves masters of the capital and with Mexico city in their hands appeal again to Washiwston for suprocess and recognition. ington for support and recognition.
"To succeed in this it will be necessary to seize upon just the right moment for the revolt. That will be when Carranza and Villa have definitely antagonized washington, when the Americans are still on the coast or struggling to reach Mex-ico city and when Huerta is shut off from An Argument to Washington.

"With Mexico city in their hands the Porfiristas can say to Washington: "We control the capital. We come into power with clean hands. We have not murdered a Madero, nor are we ex-bandits of the Yilla type. We are your only hope of tranost!/ and bloody conquest.
"'All we ask is that you will recognize us and support us against the Huertistas and the rebels in the north. Then with your sanction we will hold fair and open elections. On the other hand, if you reelections. On the other hand, if you refuse to help us you repudiate your only possible friends among the Mexicans and you must be prepared to fight your way inch by inch from Juarez to Yucatan.

"It is not the intention of Gen. Diaz or his supporters that he shall be President of Mexico by any means, however unscrupulous. That would be pleasing, but this cause is not one of personal ambition. The desire of Gen. Diaz, as of his uncle and their followers, is to save his uncle and their followers, is to save his country from a further reign of terror or a long war of conquest."

Gen. Dias at his home in this city refused last night to discuss the reported plan of his supporters to seize Mexico

Ben Franklin's statue in Printing House Square was again the scene of a near ric yesterday noon when Marie Gans, a small but spunky redhaired girl belonging to Big Bill Haywood's Anti-Militarist Conference, tried to make an anti-war speech.

She was taking the place of Reba Edelson, who had been saved the day before from the crowd by the police, who ar rested her on charges of insulting the flag and inciting riot. Miss Gans had hardly begun her speech when she was mobbed by a crowd of half grown boys and men, who mingled patriotic slogans with unprintable language.

The two or three policemen on hanwere unable to protect the young woman, who was jostled again and again from the granite post, on which she had taken her stand, and hurled against the sharp spikes of the iron railing surrounding the statue. Finally she was prevailed upon to take refuge within the enclosure.

Later she tried to make her way through the crowd at the rear of the statue, but her retreat was cut off by a rush and she became the centre of a fighting mob that rushed her down Nassau street until she found refuge in the building at 147, where employees of the place slammed the iron night gates behind her.

When Miss Gans began to speak there were two other meetings in progress at the base of the Franklin statue. Frank Labor party was mingling patriotic periods with an attack on the capitalists as war makers.

They kept right on talking after Marie Gans began. She got as far as "Dear comrades," and then the hooting and jeering drowned her voice. Tw was thrown against the spike topped pickets, and the crowd cheered the louder squad of young hoodlums pulled her down, subjecting her to many indignities.

Then she climbed upon the railing, assisted by two men. "War is hell; it is for the rich, not for the poor!" she shouted. A youngster climbed up, placed his arm about her and turned to seek the crowd's approval with a coarse jest. A moment later he was knocked sprawling by an open handed blow that showed Miss Gans to have some fighting blood of her
